DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on July 16th, 2007 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Boyle et al (US Patent 6,277,149).

Boyle et al disclose (Figures 1-21) an intervertebral spacer comprising: a spacer body (10) having a porous surface (800, Figure 21; Column 6, Lines 29-32); an upper surface (22); a lower surface (24); a central bore (26) passing through the upper and lower surfaces; both the upper and lower surfaces are substantially flat (as seen in Figure 3); the upper and lower surfaces are diametrically tapered (as seen in Figure 3);

Art Unit: 3733

the spacer having at least one beveled edge (the left-most ridge in Figure 3 meets the side surface at an angle other than 90 degrees); and numerous ridges (28) comprise at least two relative angle designation marks.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 4, 6-11 and 13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Boyle et al in view of Gross et al (US Patent 5,306,308).

Boyle et al disclose all of the claimed limitations except for a tapered axially medial groove. Gross et al teach (Column 2, Lines 41-45) that a tapered axially medial groove (7) simplifies the surgical procedure by allowing the implant to be held by and inserted using surgical forceps. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of invention to provide a tapered medial groove to the device of Boyle et al to allow surgical forceps to grip the implant facilitating the surgical procedure.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to the claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
